

TheraBite® Patient Info

Overview

The TheraBite Rehabilitation System is a handheld passive motion device. Passive motion is the therapeutic technique of slowly moving a joint without using your own muscles.

Passive motion helps relieve joint stiffness, increase your range of motion, reduces the need for physical therapy, minimizes future pain medication, and is the only way to heal joint tissue.

Without adequate therapy, a lack of motion can deteriorate into a painful cycle of restricted jaw movement that causes difficulty with eating, speaking, coughing, and oral hygiene, which leads to more pain. The TheraBite handheld is an effective way to rehabilitate your joint by stretching and retraining your jaw muscles and tissues.

With continual and diligent use of the TheraBite, a typical patient can gain 1-2 mm per week in overall range of motion, with short-term gains of 1-4 mm immediately after stretching sessions.

TheraBite Benefits:

- Maximizes your jaw range-of-motion
- Nourishes joint tissues
- Prevents stiffness and scar tissue
